“ Today is the first Birthday I will not be able to share with my Son Abraham. My heart aches for him and I miss him with all of my heart. He was a wonderful, warm, generous and kind person. He was loved by many. He is missed by many. I feel empty without my Son. A whole that will never be filled. I love you Abraham. Love Mommy

“ My dear friend Abraham words can not even begin to explain how much you mean to me or how big of a part you played in my life. I will miss your funny stories that laugh and most of all that smile that would light up a room. I hope you have found peace and relize how much you were loved by family and friends. It was an honor and a privalage to have known you and call you my friend. My heart goes out to the family Abe will be greatly missed by all of us! We can all take comfort knowing that Abe is watching over us as our guardian angel. I will always keep you in my heart and my thoughts. Love you AbrahamKristie

“ This is my Son's obituary. My Son was a beautiful soul. He has always been the light in my life and how I will go on without him is a mystery to me. He was a kind and giving person. He loved his Daughter Zoey more than life itself and I cannot imagine him not being here to watch her grow into a young woman. He is my first born, I now have lost both of my Sons and they will both live on inside of my heart and memories. Please remember him fondly and keep a warm place in your hearts for him. He was loved by many and touched many peoples lives with his goodness. He will live on in our memories of him and be forever missed more than I can ever express in words. I love you so very much Abraham and cannot begin to tell you how much pain it causes me to know I will not be able to call you and talk to you anymore. Mommy loves you sweetie. Rest in Peace.

“ I love you broham. I still can't believe you are gone its 2:00 right now we would be at your house talking about God knows what watching addi play little big planet and Nick crawling around knocking all your perfectly stacked everything down. Our lives have changed so much this past week. Its so hard not making your house out first stop in the morning. Addison loves you and she's so hurt by your absence. I told her you loved her very much and would be here with us if you could. You just can't right now. Making those snowmen in your front yard will always be one of her last memories of you. I will make sure her and zoey stay the best of friends! Ryan told me he asked you to be his best man. And that's why you were all supposed to be going out this Saturday. I wouldn't have been happier if that were to happen. Rest in paradise Mr. President. Love you

“ Abe, you and I talked daily abt family and life. I had no ideal you weren't going to see tomorrow. It's b/c of you I will pay close attention to the time I spend with people. It feels like I blinked to long and the world lost a loving soul. I already know, if it's possible you will tower over your princess Forever!
