“ I'm deeply heartbroken by the news of Brian's passing. His endless warmth, kindness and humor will be missed. I will keep in my heart the memories of our funny banter...he was the big brother I never knew I needed. I thank him for teaching my grandsons how to swim at his home during their July 4 cookout in '22. I thank him for being my friend. I hope Kelli and the family find strength in their shared memories during this challenging time. May each morning be brighter than the day before as time works to heal the sadness of this tremendous loss.

“ I’ve know Brian for just under a year and every morning I made my way to work at the CSC he would be there with a good joke to light up the day. He was a guy who truly enjoyed life but also told you that you HAD to work hard and don’t be such a wuss about it, I’ll use those words instead of what he would actually say. We had a few talks about life and how the world is and where this world is going to go the guy was super insightful. I would joke with him about the Browns all the time and he would just say hey man “what do you expect me to do I’m not on the field, I can’t make plays for them”. Brian was definitely a great guy and I send my dearest condolences to his wife and family along with his friends. Brian I’m going to miss you man. It was great knowing you.

“ I got to know Brian over the past year or so while working at the UH Customer Services Center where he was a security guard. He frequently told me how lucky he was to have met his wife Kelli, about the “date night” they would share each Friday at the grocery store where they would purchase meals planned for the coming week, and he loved to boast about the bacon and eggs she made for him daily (and which he would never share no matter how much guilt we threw his way). He talked frequently about his daughter and her husband and his grandchildren, it was clear that he loved his family very much. He also shared stories about his group of buddies who would get together for gambling weekends and about his family growing up, and all of the antics that ensued, all great stories. We would bust-a-gut throughout most days, laughing mostly at each other, but also about current events, our friends and our politicians. He was exceptional and will be missed by everyone at UH who had the opportunity to know him. My sincerest condolences to his family and friends.

I didn't know Brian well, but he was a regular fixture here at the front desk at the CSC. It's hard to imagine someone's life outside of work - but these pictures tell a story of a life well lived and the enjoyment of his family. I'm sorry for your loss and that he was taken from you far too soon.

Brian and I were close friends for 49 years. We grew up together as neighbor friends and kept our close relationship during this long period. Golfing, fishing playing cards. Was the best man at Kelly and his wedding . Which was a great honor to be apart of that special day for them. Today we say good bye to Brian a piece of me is empty but I have 49 years of great memories to keep his memory going until we meet again my good friend
