“ To Emma's Family

I wanted so much to be at the memorial service, but I've been slowly recovering from the stomach flu. Today it got me down again.

I am so sorry I didn't know Emma was so ill, I would have been to see her, but I understand it's impossible for the family to let people know.

When my mother was ill people would ask me to call if she got worse, I wasn't able to call a lot of people either. It is a very sad thing to lose your mother and grandmother, my mother lived a long life also but it didn't make my grief any less. I hope you can stay close to each other while you deal with your loss.

My prayers are with you. and with Emma that the angels speed her to Heaven, I will miss her, she was always glad to see me and we would talk about all sorts of things, I hugged her the last time I left and wished her Merry Christmas.

You have my sympathy, Josanne
