

Igor Klobas

December 24, 1966 - April 27, 2026

Igor Klobas, age 59, of Mentor, passed away on April 27, 2026. He was born in Italy on December 24, 1966, to the late Ivan and Marica Klobas.

Igor was a man of quiet strength and remarkable talent. He lived a life defined by his easy-going nature and a steady approach to the world around him. Professionally, Igor was a highly respected freelance cameraman for CBS Sports and NBC Sports. He possessed a keen eye for detail and a deep, lifelong passion for football.

While his career took him to the center of the action, Igor was a true homebody at heart. He was known as the family's "grill master," finding peace and joy in preparing meals for his loved ones in the comfort of his own backyard. He loved movies, the companionship of his beloved dogs, Olive and Maple, and the simple pleasures of a quiet day spent at home. Above all, Igor put his family first. He was a man who loved his children deeply and took immense pride in the life he built with them.

Igor is survived by his devoted wife of 30 years, Krissy Klobas (née Seeders), and his cherished children, Autumn Klobas and Liam Klobas. He was a dear brother to Edo (Karen) Klobas and a loving uncle to Anthony Klobas. He also leaves behind his brothers-in-law, Rob Seeders and Jeff Seeders, along with many extended family members and dear friends.

He was preceded in death by his parents, Ivan and Marica Klobas, and his parents-in-law, Robert and Beulah Seeders.

Family and friends are invited to gather to celebrate Igor's life on Friday, May 1, 2026, from 3:00 PM to 7:00 PM at Monreal Srnick Funeral Home, 35400 Curtis Blvd, Eastlake, OH 44095. A Funeral Service will be held at the funeral home immediately following the visitation at 7:00 PM.

Igor will be remembered for his kind spirit, his creative eye, and the unwavering love he showed to his family every single day.

“ *Krissy, Liam and August:
I will miss my friend, Ig.
I will always remember the first time I met Ig at the old Coliseum for a Cavs game.
I will always remember Ig's infectious smile, humor and his impersonation of Reghi (Ig did Reghi better than Reghi impersonated himself!!!).
I will always remember how he could bring us all to laughter.
I will always remember his love for The Cleveland Browns and how he told everyone that he painted the backyard shed Browns orange, brown and white.
Most importantly, I will never forget Ig sharing his love and stories of the three of you. Over the years, the two of us had many, many private conversations in the Indians camera bay regarding both our families, to the point that he made me feel part of your family.
I am going to miss, remember and cherish all those times as well as so many others.
May Igors Soul and the Souls of all the Faithful departed, through the Mercy of God,
Rest in Peace. Amen.
May God bless of all of you.*

“ I just learned of Igor's passing, and like so many I'm saddened...for myself, for all who he met, and touched, and most of all for his family, and closest loved ones. Igor was wonderful to me during the years when I was a small part of his team, and besides being the consummate professional, he was the ideal model of what a teammate, and friend should be. Thank you for all you gave us while you were here, Igor. Now, take your rest....

“ This gentle giant of a man was the best there ever was. To know Igor was to love him. Igor had a charismatic charm about him. To work with him as often as I did was a blessing, but to be his friend was the true honor of a lifetime. I will never forget the way he made me feel included, valued, and appreciated. He spoke to me and treated me like he truly cared. He looked out for me, made me feel safe, and always made me laugh. Our talks included everything - but always started with his family. How he enjoyed seeing Flaming Lips shows, and how proud he was of his kids for being as hardworking and dedicated as they are. He loved talking about his beloved Krissy, and never shied away from telling me how he outkicked his coverage. We had talks about health and well-being, he taught me so many things, which makes this all the more unfathomable. We always joked about what nice calves he had, I never thought I'd miss talking about his legs with him. We had a tradition of stopping after work to get a salad from Culver's, where I learned of his alter ego, "John." Man, Ig made me smile. "Hiiiiiii Stalker," he'd always say to me when I saw him. I'll miss my friend. We all will. Our world was better with Igor in it.

“ It's understood that any time our community suffers such a loss it affects not only the community, but the industry itself. This one is different. Different in so many ways- all of which being the right ones! It's my sincere prayer that the family and loved ones somehow find comfort as we clear our tears over the loss of our friend, Iggy. Professionally this icon of an operator was one of few who could be placed in any position of any event, anytime, anywhere- to the benefit of not only production teams, but to John & Mabel at home, sitting on their sofas that people too often claim don't know the difference... If Ig was there- rest assured, everybody knew the difference! Never an ego, too "busy" to ask how you're doing or making sure you'd heard his most recent corny joke. Respectful, sincere- just a pro's pro and the epitome of what it took to be successful. The kind of human who was even equally loved for the things he wasn't- and knew the difference.

Personally he was more. Much more. Upon not having had worked with Ig in a couple months or so, the 1st thing he would do (after huggin' it out) would be to show recent photos of his wonderful family- outwardly bragging- admitting he was proud, lucky and blessed, making it crystal clear his family remained the primary focus of everything he did and fueled his relentless commitment to excellence. Iggy made sure the love for his family outshone any doubts anyone may have for where his priorities lied, what truly floated his boat, or where he hung his hat.

It's been written there are 2 types of virtues: resume virtues, and eulogy virtues. One being professional- listing our accomplishments, accolades, and reputation, the skills brought to the work environment. Eulogy virtues consist of qualities that define one's soul, summoned in time of grief. Were you kind, honest, faithful, brave, and loyal in the relationships formed over a lifetime? Often the 2 exist in competition for significance. Iggy proved it's possible to be the best at being the best.

May the sheer volume and sincerity of tributes dedicated to Igor provide comfort as you celebrate this wonderful life. Know the depths of your pain are shared, likewise the love and admiration for Ig shall be engrained for eternity.
