“ Dear Joe, Shirlaine, and Eric:

I don't think I have to tell you that your mom was a wonderful lady. My sister and I spoke of her yesterday, and we always thought of her as a funny, kind, and really super mom. She was our mom's best friend in the world. There wasn't a Tuesday that went by when these two non-catholics weren't seen at St. Justins playing Bingo. Maybe late because one of us had a birthday or some other necessary distraction. You are eternally blessed to have had the time with such a great lady. She is with me often when I think of my great childhood growing up with you guys, and I am so thankful that my mom had the companionship of your mother.

I think she missed here the most of all when she moved to Florida. I think even more than she missed us kids!

Thank you for sharing her, and I know the two Jackies are playing bingo together once again!

With my very , very deepest sympathy...and remember, we grieve for ourselves, not for those who left...Love and Peace to you during this time.
