Our deepest sympathy and condolences to the Watson family. We only knew Jimmy since Nicole and Todd were married, he was in the bridal party and Todd and Nicole couldn't have had a better friend in Jimmy. Our relationship at the wedding was many handshakes, hugs and seemed like we toasted a lot that night.

He was just like the others in the wedding party they all helped with table setting, decorations always a step a head of the others. He was a close friend of Todd's and a friend of many other guys in the bridal party.

He was always willing to help us when we needed the muscle to move furniture, but he always had the infectious smile on his face.

He was a true friend, always able to help out when help was needed.

His life ended to soon as we all know, so he will always be our guardian angel, he'll always be the cardinal I'm our back yards.

My you Rest In Peace and know we'll all meet you in heaven.

Cheri and Gino Latessa 🙏🙏🙏

May the eternal light shine upon you and may you rest peacefully in heaven, 🙏🙏🙏

“ My sister and I practically grew up with the Watson family. Jimmy was just a year shy of me so we were pretty much brothers. We did a lot together, even well into our older age we were nearly inseparable. The loss of such a bright light is truly a tragedy, but I have spent my time in the wake of this bitter news remembering the many stories we've made together. Stories I've happily told to others about my wonderful cousin Jimmy.

When we were kids, maybe around nine or so. We were riding our bikes up to Bell flower Park. He was in front, I was slightly behind him and we were riding on the side walk. We were coming up on side street and I wasn't paying attention when my front wheel hit into his back wheel. My bike stumbled, but I recovered from falling. His bike came to a hard stop, he however didn't. I watched as he went over his handle bars, flipped in the air and landed on his back on the concrete. He partly slid into the road of the side street where a brown box van pulled up seeing it all happen.

I was freaking out, I was thinking he's gonna start crying, I'll have to find a way to get him home, he's gonna be hurt and I might get in trouble. The guy in the van leaned out his window and said "Woah buddy, you ok?" And I looked to my cousin on the ground. He jumped up with this huge grin played on his face and shouted "That was fun! Let's do it again!"

From that moment on I knew I could never anticipate what my cousin might do, but I always knew I wanted to be there to always witness that amazing attitude he always had.
