“ Jesse and I knew each other when we were young he was in the same friend group as I was, and we went to high school together. He always gave me a hug before class and was such a sweet guy, funny, and a shoulder to lean on when times got tough. You're deeply missed. My condolences to his family.

“ I met Jesse while visiting Ohio when he was around 12 yrs. old. I was impressed with what a sweet boy he was. In later years we corresponded over FaceBook. He impressed me as being a very sensitive young man. I am so sorry that his destiny was robbed before it was fulfilled. I would like to convey to his family and friends my sorrow over their loss. He will be greatly missed.

“ Our deepest condolences to Jesse’s family and friends. He will be greatly missed! What a fine young man! I first laid eyes on Jesse in Ohio while visiting my parents when he was a toddler. It was love at first sight! We were all so thrilled with this addition to our family. My mother had prayed that her great grandchild would be born on his Cousin Jay’s birthday. AND HE WAS! I am thankful for all the time we got to spend together over the years. He was gentle, kind, appreciative, forgiving, sensitive, and creative. He loved his family and He hoped to get married and have a family of his own someday. He also loved nature and adventure and spent a lot of time landscaping, riding, and working on motorcycles. He was a fine musician, song writer, and guitar player. We had a lot of intimate moments together over the years, particularly during times of loss. In recent years we mostly communicated through FaceBook. My heart was broken when he started to withdraw and we lost contact. After a dark period in his life, he came to know Jesus as his Savior and started letting God into many places of pain. He told me he dreamed of riding his motorcycle out to California to go biking with his Uncle John and visit his California cousins. I couldn’t wait to ride with them along California’s golden coast. Sadly, it never happened. His life was tragically cut short. I look forward to seeing him again on heaven’s golden streets. We are praying that God’s peace and presence will be tangible to all who mourn his loss for God is close to the brokenhearted and promises to bind up our wounds. “ Though I didn't know Jesse, I certainly knew the family-his mom, grandmother and great-grandmother and family. My family and his extended family go way back. My sincere condolences to Christine, her dad and brother Peter and to his aunt Clarice and uncles from the Phillips side. Such a loss, such a tragedy. I will pray for you all.

“ What can we say about Jesse, he was a very kind, pleasant and polite person every time I saw him and talked to him on the phone. Every time he called and was worried about his motorcycle with any issues big or small, I told him to come on down and let me look at it and we can come up with a solution to his problem he was having on his 2006 dresser. When he got to the shop, I came out to take a peak at it and chuckled a little bit most of his visit he would stop by being on top of this motorcycle so it wouldn't break and cost him more money.

The reason he was so on top of his motorcycle was because when he started riding he got a 1981 shovelhead with an enclosed chain that rattled everything loose and really kept him on his toes with bringing everything he would need to just go for a ride with Brian, the funny thing is Jesse got so good at fixing and improvising on the side of the road that I don't believe it was him that was the reason for pulling over on the side of the road, it was because of Brian usually losing more parts on his blue custom. Anytime that happened Jesse was prepared for almost anything since his saddlebags and tourpack was a rolling tool box 🙌 anyone who has ever owned a shovelhead knows what Jesse was prepared for! Can't believe the world lost another kind hearted and gentle soul but I hope he is enjoying his motorcycle up there or wherever he is. He will be missed and so very sorry for the loss.

I only met Jesse once, when my brother married his mother Christine. I swear he reminded me of a young Clint Eastwood. He came across as a kind and considerate young man. What a tragic lost too soon. His beautiful smile is with the angels now, smiling down on his loved ones.

We welcomed Jesse into our family years ago when my brother met his mom. My brother kept telling me, that I really needed to meet Christine's son. That he was a nice cool dude. And into motorcycles, also my brothers love, to ride. The short amount of time I was able to spend with Jesse, I could see he was right. At Thanksgiving, when I first met Jesse, and everyone was socializing, he offered to help in the cook in the kitchen. And once the festivities were over, he was there again, offering to clean up. I found Jesse's thoughtfulness and kindness awesome and genuine. He just wanted to help. That's who he was. God Bless.

Jesse, You're always going to be in my heart and memories as my little cousin who would play guitar so methodically and to perfection. There were several occasions in which you would reach out to me and we would talk chords/riffs and those are the memories I'll cherish. One day we'll all be reunited in heaven with yia yia and papou and the celebration will be grand. I love and miss you cuzzy. Best, Johnny Stakich Jr

Johnny Stakich (Cousin) - January 25, 2023 at 01:37 PM

I remember when my beautiful cousin Christine sent me a little wallet sized photo of her son, Jesse. He was just a baby, and I took that photo to work with me, and set it up on my desk. I would sometimes catch myself just staring at his sweet little face, and I felt such joy that we had a new person in our family, and that God blessed my cousin with a son. Being that we live on the other side of the country, I unfortunately didn't get to see Jesse very often, but when I was in town and was able to share time with him, I was so happy to wrap my arms around him and show him as much love as I possibly could in the short time we had together, because the time was never quite long enough. I soaked it all in, because the time I had with him and my other family members was a precious gift. I had a deep sense that Jesse felt the same. I remember a young boy with a deep and gentle soul. I would have loved to have known him as the young man he was. Christine, Uncle Eddy, Peter, and the rest of our family, I'm praying for you all, in this time of great sorrow. May the Lord comfort you and keep you, as only He can. I love you all so very much. ((Hug))
