“ Being in Mom's house the past ten days has made me more aware than ever of how she was a "favorite aunt" to so many of you. So, as the son who may not have been as involved in her life, I feel it is I who owe you the condolences for her loss. But I think to all of us she will remain the energetic and vivacious woman we remember, and I choose to see her passing as a lifting of the burden she felt in her later years after the loss of Paul, the love of her life. So here's to Aunt Joanie, everybody's favorite aunt.
