“ John played in the ashtabula pool league for several years, after he moved back from Colorado. I remember when he came into DeGee's looking for a place to play pool. It seems like just yesterday. All of his pool league friends just found out today that he passed. All of us can't believe it. We are deeply saddened by John's passing and will surely miss him. We send our deepest sympathy to his family.

“ I am saddened to hear that you have passed. We were best friends as children, inseparable until my father was transferred with his job. We played league football on the same team, league baseball on different teams, kill the man, 2 man street football (we were the best in the Headlands) and of course "First Base" a game John and I made up. We would go fishing, chase girls and we would; if anyone remembers, ride that god forsaken upside down bike. I could go on and on with the fun, exciting and sometimes dangerous memories. You will be missed my friend. My prayers are with you and your family.

“ NO WAY! I just heard about this right now! John was my brother when we were kids, we did everything together, I remember playing poker with him and Bruce Lane until the morning sun during sleepovers. "Name it and Claim It" in the back of the school bus, trying to stump each other with music trivia. I remember partying in the back yard of their parents' house around a campfire with Carl, Eddie, and John. We were the assassins on our football team, I played nose tackle and he played linebacker, if they got past me, they never got past Johnny, if you had the ball, he would pound you!

As we got older, we drifted apart, but after Eddy died, we connected again, just for a while. I repaired a kitchen drawer for him that kept on messing up. My facebook account got deleted, so I tried to get onto his friend list with the new account, but it never happened. Now I know why. Rest well my brother, there is life beyond the sleep!
