“ I am deeply saddened by the loss of Matt. My reaching out is an example of what happens when you don't stay in touch with old friends. Matt was my roommate at OU Oak Street. I have thought of him regularly over the years and told myself to get on the web and find Matt. I did so today in Sept 2016, 11 years after the world became less funny. Matt's son should know that his father left big shoes to fill. Matt could make friends anywhere. He and I faked the Swahili language hoping that our neighbors would hear through the walls and be impressed. It didn't work, but Matt kept trying. Matt was kind and humble, smart as they come. Matt was a fleeting college friendship that last for too short of a time. He was one of a very few that I met or lived with that I can honestly say constantly kicked me in the rear to find and catch up with. I know his diabetes were severe and it caused me wonder over the past 20 years how matt was doing. Please know that Scurlock who I remember and so many others were Matt's true friends, he had many. He had a friend we called JZ or something, this guy loved Matt too. Matt was a guy that lit up the room with his good nature. God broke the mold. I miss you Matt!! God Bless all of his family and friends. brent

“ Dear friends,

Unfortunately, I write this message with deep regret! One of the funniest people I have ever come to know has passed away.

Matt Hass recently passed away with a new child and I can only pray that God has placed Matt next to him/her so he can tell a few jokes and tell God like it is!

Matt was one of my greatest friends and is one of the funniest people I have had the pleasure to know! I simply write this message to those lucky few with whom have had the opportunity to meet this wonderful man and who have had the experience to listen to Matt tell a joke or explain one of life's weird intricacies!

Anyway, I really don't know what to say other than I loved Matt for the way he lived life and everything he did in college that I'm certain we will never forget!!!

God is so lucky to have him next to his side telling funny jokes and making certain life is understood like it is and keeping it real!!

Thanks Matt,

You Rule!!!! I will miss you my friend!!!

Thank You for coming to my life!

“ I had the pleasure of meeting Matt back in 1996 down in Folly Beach, S.C. My buddy Pete and I went to visit during our spring break and Matt made it more enjoyable than we would have ever imagined. He was hilarious from everything to the history of Charleston to the jokes he cracked at The Pelican. I am just glad I had the chance to meet him. He will always be in fond memory and luckily I have pictures to remind me.

“ My daughter, Erica Boslay, and Matt were friends in high school. Matt was such a gentleman. I remember one day Matt came to my place of employment with a coffee cup filled with candy "just because". I thought that was a beautiful gesture and no one has ever presented me with a gift like that. I still have it to this day and I would be honored if Chris would accept this gift that Matt gave me in his honor. Every time I dusted the cup I thought of him. I would just like to end by saying that it is not our loved ones that miss us, it is us who miss them because they are with us at our sides always. God Bless this family and may the angels watch over you.
