“ well Bob it is 8 years since your passing. You and I go back to 1966 when we attended college together. Those were the days. Just last year I totally restored a 1974 Norton motorcycle. Back in 1978 we rode our bikes up to upstate New York and you crashed your bikes. This accident messed up your left leg so you were forced to ride my 1972 Norton home which had right hand shift. This is but one of many stories I shared with you.
Take care good friend.

“ Bob you have made your final round trip. May peace find you and lift your spirit to the highest place. You have been and will continue to be missed by all at Detroit City Airport. I will always remember the long talks that we shared. Bob you were one of a kind. I will remember you always.

“ I came to know Bob well over the years. He taught me many things about multi-engine pilot practices. I flew with him on a number of occasions, but remember one flight in particular when landing on a snowy runway, at night, in freezing rain, with a stiff crosswind. Bob's professional skills after touchdown kept us on the runway in arduous conditions. I will miss his piloting guidance his often candid humor, and most of all his friendship.

“ Hey Bobby or RED as my parents called you when you delivered the Cleveland Press to our door. we will miss you and your Volkswagen bus. Your golf and tennis lessons. Those wonderful days at Lost Nation airport. Debriefings at Molinaries restaurant. And those darn Indians.
God speed partner.

“ I have many fond memories of Bob. He and my mother, Kay Marinko, would often spend hours talking. She loved reading the letters he often sent her while he was in the service. Bob had without a doubt the craziest sense of humor and terrific smile. He is at peace now ~ he endured so much in his battle.
